“It pays to exhibit!”

Comments from the tool, pattern and mould making sector

“Moulding Expo simply is the platform for everyone involved in mould and tool making. And of course for all those who have specific requirements and a concrete need for specific tools and moulds. Here I can find out about all the trends and future possibilities.”

Stefan Hofmann / Siegfried Hofmann

“Moulding Expo is important for the region, as it is located in a huge hub of mechanical engineering and the automotive industry. In 2023 we exhibited there and were able to talk to a lot of our regular customers as well as new clients. The trade fair offers an excellent platform to make valuable contacts and present the latest developments in the industry.”

Thomas Schönbacher / Priomold

“Exhibiting is worthwhile, as many visitors with a lot of expertise come to the stand. I can get started on projects and topics and exchange ideas with experts.”

Eva Söhnlein / HG Hans Geiger Formenbau

“For us, Moulding Expo is a top event because it has all partners in the value chain on-site. We can address interested parties and visitors in the field of multi-component injection moulding. These are the device manufacturers showing housings, seals or medical technology and mobile technology.”

Udo Stabs / FKT

“For us as a manufacturer of tools and moulds, the Moulding Expo trade fair is important because it is here that customers come to choose their tool maker if they have new projects or are looking for tool and mould makers who serve special areas. Moulding Expo also enables us to compare our level of knowledge on many topics that affect our industry.”

Comments of the technology partners and suppliers

“Moulding Expo is not to be missed, because it is a meeting place for the entire tool and mould making industry and all suppliers and mechanical engineers. For us as a supplier, it is extremely important because we meet many customers here and we have also been able to present our products very, very well here for many years.”

Holger Heimerdinger / Partool

“It is very important for us as a tool manufacturer to be at Moulding Expo. It is THE trade fair to show the latest products to the industry and get around in the sector. The beauty of it is that all target groups are present: From the managing director to the user and the buyer. Particularly important for us is the machine operator who ultimately decides whether our tool is used.”

Stefan Zecha / ZECHA

“For us as a manufacturer of standard parts, Moulding Expo here in southern Germany is a very special event and an important indicator for the entire mould making sector, and also very important for networking. We show our novelties, listen to our customers to learn what they need and try to develop new solutions from it.”

Daniel Keßler / HASCO

“As a company in hot runner technology, we have all our customers directly on site here. Not only those from Germany, but also from neighbouring European countries, for example from Turkey, Portugal or Eastern Europe.”

Stephan Berz / Oerlikon HRSflow

“As a Japanese company, we simply have the obligation to exhibit at Moulding Expo. Here in the largest market with the highest concentration of relevant companies, the managing directors as well as the operators of the machines want to see our latest developments in action. In order to be constantly present in Stuttgart, we exhibit at AMB and in the interim years at Moulding Expo.”
